

Order Of Nine Angles
ONA/O9A
Recommended Reading List

Given the plethora of texts about O9A esotericism and O9A praxises published - in line with the move from Phase II to Phase III of O9A Aeonc Strategy {1} - between 2015 and 2019, it is germane to issue a new Recommended Reading List especially as the previous one dated from the 1990s and was not subsequently updated.

The majority of the recommended texts are currently - October 2019 ev, 130 yfayen - available as gratis open access pdf documents on the O9A blog at omega9alpha dot wordpress dot com, locatable using the 'search' function of that blog and inputting the title(s) listed below.

Several compilations of recent O9A texts are also available as printed books, including Feond, ISBN 978-1687255624, Baeldraca, ISBN 978-1689931953, and Tyberness, ISBN 978-1696821742, and which Seofonfeald Peath trilogy takes the public profile of the O9A to "the next level" - of Adeptship - beyond early, Initiate, ONA works such as Naos and Hostia. The trilogy includes some of the O9A texts listed in the sections below.

Caveat Lector

The curious, or the neophyte, reader of O9A texts should be aware of three things.

1. That O9A texts were written over a period of some forty years with the O9A having, even by 2009,

"produced more material on both the practical and theoretical aspects of magic, as well as more ideological texts on Satanism and the Left-Hand Path in general, than larger groups such as the Church of Satan and the Temple of Set has produced in combination [which] makes the ONA an important player in the theoretical discussion of what the Left-Hand Path and Satanism is and should be according to the practitioners." {2}

The time-scale of some forty years and the quantity of O9A texts means that it is easy for the curious, or the neophyte, reader to become confused especially as they may find some texts which seem on a first or even on a second reading to contradict some other text or texts.

2. Some of this confusion was intentional - part of the O9A's Labyrinthos Mythologicus - since the curious, and especially neophytes, were expected to work some things out for themselves such as discovering or having an Occult intuition regarding the distinction between the exoteric (some outer form or appearance or useful tool) and the esoteric (the essence hidden by some form, by appearance, by what a useful tool can create or be used for).

3. That most individuals critical of the O9A, be they self-described 'satanists' or otherwise, and most academics who have written about the O9A, have (i) not bothered to study the entire O9A written corpus from the 1970s to the present, and (ii) have failed to understand or to intuit the difference between O9A esotericism and exoteric appearance (useful exoteric tools and forms), or (iii) became lost in and confused by the O9A's Labyrinthos Mythologicus.

The result being a lack of knowledge about, and a lack of insight into, the O9A, its praxises, and its esotericism. Which ignorance - which lack of knowledge and lack of insight - did not and does not prevent such individuals and such academics {3} from pontificating about the O9A.
